COVERAGE OPINIONS AND LITIGATION

Our Firm has attorneys who specialize in coverage matters and rendering coverage opinions in a wide variety of insurance settings, including workers' compensation. They have the knowledge and experience to address general and particular provisions of a policy and how the unique facts related to a loss are likely to impact those provisions. They are also able to evaluate and determine whether there is a basis to assert a lack of coverage or whether a preservation of such position should be set out early in a matter to properly advise all parties. Our firm has assisted many insurers address policies of all types and is well-qualified to provide good counsel on such issues to avoid the hazards of improper decisions and provide certainty to the insurer/insured relationship between employers and carriers.
