

RALPH P. DOUGLAS, JR.

Partner

Ralph Douglas concentrates his practice in matters relating to workers' compensation, employer liability, administrative litigation and health care reimbursement disputes. Ralph also provides general counsel to employers and self-insured clients. Ralph routinely leads discussion on general liability and risk management, workers' compensation claims, employment decisions and disputes, and governmental regulation affecting his client's interests. He has litigated a variety of cases in the state and federal courts of Florida, as well as claims and disputes before the Judges of Compensation Claims and the Administrative Law Judges at the Florida Division of Administrative Hearings. Ralph is approved by the Department of Financial Services as a continuing education instructor in the field of Workers' Compensation. During law school, Ralph served as a law clerk at the Florida House of Representatives. Prior to law school and throughout college, Ralph worked in the construction and transportation industries where he gained valuable skills and insights impacting his law practice even today.
